

Longer life spans and more access to healthcare are changing the landscape of senior living. To deliver a personalized approach, providers are moving to a model that offers many levels of care, located in smaller complexes within neighborhoods.

Senior Living

Developing facilities that provide continuum of care

As the need for these types of facilities has increased, so have concerns about cost. Our planning process will walk you through the important decisions about the type of lifestyle you want to provide and get you to the proforma that works for you. We take into account the lifecycle costs and performance of the facility to give you a complete understanding of your investment.

Our experience with construction and renovations of all types of senior living spaces, from 3,500 square feet to entire communities, means we understand the delicate nature of these environments. From safety planning, to schedule development, to how we communicate during construction, our approach prioritizes the health and wellness of your residents.
